LOYOLA COLLEGE

REVIEW

Dedication

ST. IGNATIUS LOYOLA

In 1556, on the last day of July, Ignatius of Loyola died in Rome. A letter went forth to carry grief into the hearts of his thousand brothers. He was more than their brother: he was the creator of the way of life which was their joy; and he was a man whose nature inspired love. That is why they mourned his death, in Europe, Africa, Brazil, and India.

But their sorrow soon turned to strength. Ignatius was gone, but not the goal of his life and not the road. The goal was the greater glory of God. The road was the Spiritual Exercises and the Constitutions of the Society of Jesus. Their mournful thoughts soon turned into firm determination. There was work to be done, and the brothers of Ignatius turned to the task with renewed ardour.

The history of their work is an incredible tale. In every field where greater glory might be won for God, in education, in the defence of the Church, in the missions, in preaching, in social work, the Jesuits laboured. And their labours, if not always crowned with success, always, it seems, were clothed in brilliance. This was not because they sought the light of fame: their road was one of humility. It was because of their great learning, wisdom, and imagination; their sanctity, courage and perseverance which brought them inevitably before the admiring gaze of men.

Admirers and friends the Society of Jesus had; but it also had its detractors and enemies. Its growth was like the growth of the Church herself, amid thorns that tried to hurt it, and weeds that tried to strangle it. For the space of four dark decades it was suppressed by Rome that its enemies might be placated. Its flowers and its stem were cut down and left to wither and die; but not its roots. And so it grew up again. It grew to a greatness: it grew over the whole world, and to a strength of thirty thousand men. It grew because, though much had been destroyed, the goal and the road of St. Ignatius had not. His life-plan was a masterpiece and it lives forever.

At all times he is praised for it, but especially during this year, 1956, the four-hundredth anniversary of his death. He is praised by the whole Jesuit family, both those who walk his road, the fathers, scholastics and brothers, and those for whom they labour, the ignorant, the suffering, the learners. Our own college is a small part of the Jesuit family. It has dedicated this year to St. Ignatius. The Review is the chronicle of the year. It, too, is dedicated to him.

The College Offers

- Art courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, with special modifications to meet pre-Medical and pre-Dental requirements.
- Honour Science courses in Chemistry, Physics and Mathematics leading to the degree of Honour B.Sc.
- 3. General Science courses with continuation subjects in Physics, Chemistry, or Mathematics, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science. These courses can be so arranged as to fulfil all pre-Medical requirements.
- 4. Engineering courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science and eligibility to enter the Third Year of their chosen branch of Engineering at McGill University.
- 5. Commerce courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Commerce.
- The College also offers a two year course which fulfils the requirements of pre-Dentistry.

RELIGION

Religion is an essential part of life at Loyola as it is in life in general. Students are required to fulfil their religious obligations regularly, and to make annually a spiritual retreat of three days. The Sodality of Our Lady is a spiritual organization of students for the fostering of piety. Religion is also an integral part of the curriculum. Being definite and certain like any other truth, it can be taught, and is taught at Loyola.

PHILOSOPHY

Without sound philosophy there is neither intellectual security nor intellectual maturity. Scholastic Philosphy, the wisdom of the ages, is sound, mature and intelligible. It does no violence to Faith, to Science, or to Common Sense. Every candidate for any degree at Loyola must complete successfully a series of courses in Scholastic Philosophy.

LOYOLA COLLEGE REVIEW

MONTREAL, CANADA

VOL. 42

EDITORIAL

1956 was a year of anniversaries at Loyola. Sixty years ago, Loyola College was founded. It grew from a section of the downtown Jesuit College of Ste. Marie to its present site on Sherbrooke Street West. Four hundred years ago died St. Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Jesuit order which staffs this college. The coincidence of these two anniversaries is a very happy and significant one: the occasion was further heightened by the presence of His Eminence Paul Emile Cardinal Léger, Archibishop of Montreal, at Loyola on March 12.

That Loyola has grown as it has is a sign that it fulfills a real need in Montreal. In our city there is a French Catholic majority and a large English Protestant minority: both of these groups have ample and numerous educational facilities on the university level. The English Catholics have but one institution of higher learning: Loyola College. Loyola College is alone in the field—hence it has had to broaden its scope: to the Arts Course which has always formed the backbone of any Jesuit College it has subsequently added a Science Course and a Commerce Course. Thus a curriculum with a greater appeal was made possible.

And we can without undue fear of error hazard the opinion that Loyola will continue to expand and differentiate, in the manner of all living organisms, until it has acquired the status and prestige of a full-fledged university.

This Loyola Review has attempted to solidify, to crystallize that which is fluid, that which progresses and grows, to stop at a certain stage of the evolution of Loyola College to examine what it is and what it is doing.

We sincerely hope that we have accomplished what we intended to do. If we have done so, it is due solely to the co-operation, direct and indirect, we have received from the students of Loyola College. If not, the fault is entirely our own.

Dr. SCIPIO del CAMPO

Faculty and students were shocked and saddened during the summer months to hear of the untimely death of Doctor Stefan Scipio del Campo. "The Doctor" as he was affectionately alluded to by hundreds of students, was undoubtedly one of the College's best known and most beloved personalities.

Born in Poland of a very distinguished family, Doctor Scipio was educated there at the University of Warsaw. Among his many intellectual achievements he held the degrees of Master of Commerce and Doctor of Laws. For some time he practised law in Vienna but during the last ten years, to escape Communism, Doctor Scipio and his wife were forced to abandon friends and possessions and emigrate to Canada. The Doctor was an accomplished economist and taught that and other related subjects to Commerce and Arts students.

To his grieved widow, Mrs. Scipio del Campo, the students of Loyola College offer their sincerest sympathy and the assurance of their prayers.

The Editors of the Review have also received notice of the death of Rev. JOHN d'ORSONNENS, S.J., who was a member of the staff in 1909-1910, who died on the 25th of January, 1956, and of Rev. VINCENT MORRISSON, S.J., who was a member of the staff about five years ago, who died on the 29th of February, 1956.

Why, o my God, has thou forsaken me? These words Our Saviour gasped upon the Cross To give us warning that in darkest day Despair may come to turn us from the path. The path to God is fraught with toil and strife, We are distracted by the pleasure beat Of our own days, the frenzied furious search For peace and comfort in this evil world. The lust for money, which denotes success, Is taking us away from love of God And Mammon has returned in subtle guise To lull us into false security. So let us now decide with calm resolve To stage a Renaissance in Christian life And lead man back to Calvary and to God. Thus to avert a second Fall of man.

CLASS OF '56

ROBERT ARMSTRONG

Arts

"Being in a crowd is the best known antidote to independent thought."

Bob, who was born on October 4, 1934, is very fortunate in being equipped with a finely pointed and extremely well-developed wit. In his writing, in his debating or in his after-dinner speeches, his message, whatever it may be, is never missed.

ACTIVITIES: Debating '52-'55; Varsity Football '53-'54; Intramurals: Football '55-'56; Eight year Man.

PIERRE F. BATAILLE

Science

"This is only a mere step."

Pierre, born June 30, 1935 in Belgium, started at Loyola in the Science faculty in his Freshman year. It took him little time to settle into our Canadian way of things, so much so that he plans to live here permanently.

DAVID M. BEASLEY

Commerce

"Fortune favours the bold."

Dave, born February 25, 1935, is first and foremost an accountant. With a mind for figures, Dave has been juggling them for the last four years and plans to make his future in this exacting field.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Basketball '55, Football '52-'55, Curling '55, Bowling '55-'56, Hockey '55-'56; Eight Year Man.

PIERRE ROGER BEGIN

Commerce

"To be conscious that you are ignorant is a great step towards knowledge."

Pierre was born on April 30, 1933 in the little town of La Tuque, Quebec. There he attended Collège St-Zephirin before coming to Loyola as a Freshman. Although small in stature, he is a man to be reckoned with in almost any field.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Hockey '52-'56.

PIERRE BOUTIN

Science

"We must look to the future, not to the past."

Pierre, born on October 18, 1929, is the only Bachelor of Science who is not actually a bachelor. He has (among other things) devoted these past four years to the pursuit of his chemical studies. He is a man of boundless vigor and overflowing energy.

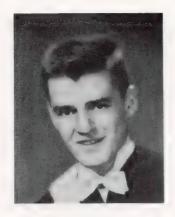

KENNETH F. CASSIDY

Commerce

"Life is a science; living's an art."

Ken, born January 30, 1932, is another of those very active men who appear every now and then at Loyola. Fancying himself in the limelight, he was readily accepted by his fellow students, and consequently became the President of the Student Body.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'56, Prefect '53-'55; Freshman Pres. '52-'53; Class Pres. '53-'55; Debating '52-'54; Commerce Society: Secretary '52-'53; CFCCS: Delegate '53-'54, President '53-'55; CSR: President '55-'56; Dramatics: Publicity Chairman '54-'55; News: Contributor '52-'56; Eight Year Man.

PETER G. CHARNOCK

Arts

"Beaded bubbles winking at the brim."

Peter, born October 18, 1933 in Preston, England, was educated at the famed Jesuit College — Stonyhurst. Having attended London University, he came to Canada and entered Junior Arts. He was an immediate success for he held the lead role in "Coriolanus" as well as receiving top academic honors.

ACTIVITIES: Dramatics: President '55-'56, Major Roles '54-'56; COTC '54-'56, Vice-President Mess Committee '55-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '54-'55; Football '55-'56; News: Contributor '54-'56.

RONALD CHRISTIE

Arts

"And when we think we lead, we most are led." . . . Byron.

This quiet, unassuming man from the Junction was born on June 24, 1934. (That day he was neither quiet nor unassuming.) He has spent the last eight years in an endless (seemingly) struggle to attain both scholastic and social honors. He has succeeded on both counts.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'54; Dramatics '52-'55; Debating '52-'56, Pres. '55-'56; Class Pres. '52-'54; Vice-Pres. of Fresh. Year '52-'53; Arts Society: Chairman of Speakers' Comm. '52-'53; CSR: Vice-Pres. '55-'56; Intramurals: Football '52-'55; Football Team Manager; Eight Year Man.

M. DAVID COTTLE

Science

"And this above all: to thine own self be true, And it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man."

Young Dave, born August 14, 1936, was never one to remain in the shadow of his elder brother. For he too has gained "his measure of success" in his specific field of studies — a fine all-round man.

ACTIVITIES: Bowling League '52-'56, President '55-'56; News: Contributor '55-'56; Intramurals: Swimming '53-'55; Eight Year Man.

ROBERT D. COTTLE

Arts Pre-Med

"Go put your creed into your deed, nor speak with double tongue." . . . Emerson.

Bob, born on May 10, 1935, is a man with great ability, of which at all times he makes full use. Medicine is his first goal, others will develop. If you expect great things of him, there is little chance of your being disappointed.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'55; Dramatics '52-'55; Debating '52-'56, Secretary '55-'56; Arts Society: Chairman of Debating Comm. '53-'54, Speakers' Comm. '54-'55; Bowling League: '52-'56; Review: Contributor '53-'54; News: Contributor '54-'56, News Ed. '53-'54, Fresh. Ed. '52-'53; Intramurals: Football '53-'54, Hockey '54-'55, Swimming '53-'55; Eight Year Man.

W. RONALD COUGHLIN

Science Pre-Med

"Wars and sieges pass away and great intellectual efforts cease to stir our hearts, but the man who sacrifices himself for his fellows, lives forever."—T. B. Reed.

Born on the 27th of June 1934, Ron had his early schooling at D'Arcy McGee High School. For the last four years he has been energetically devoting all his efforts in preparing himself for his future medical career.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Football '53-'56, Hockey '54-'55.

R. ALAN COX

Arts

"As we advance in life, we learn the limits of our abilities.

I try all things; I achieve what I can."

Unfortunately when Audio Al was born, on May 17, 1935, high fidelity sound had not then been invented. However, to compensate for this he developed an excellent pair of lungs, which produce to the amazement of all a large and very full voice.

ACTIVITIES: Debating '52-'54; Dramatics '53-'55; News: Contributor '53-54, Man. Ed. '54; Review '54-'56; Intramurals: Hockey '53-'56.

RAYMOND KENNETH COX

Science

"Let him who has won the garland wear it."

Ken, who was born on December 16, 1934, is a hard consistent worker. After studying in the Greek classes during High School, he changed his horses and hitched on to the Engineers bandwagon.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Basketball '53-'56; Eight Year Man.

GERALD FRANCIS DIONNE

Science

"The greatest of all faults, I should say, is to be conscious of none."

Gerry, born on February 5, 1935, has always been a fine competitor in the sporting world as well as in the scholastic. Over the years he has acquired the very useful knack of finishing on top in almost anything he attempts.

ACTIVITIES: Class Representative LCAA '54-'55; Basketball '52-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Football '52-'55, Hockey '52-'56; Eight Year Man.

GEORGE DONATO

Arts Pre-Med

"Youth is a blunder; Manhood a struggle; Old age regret."

George, born on August 16, 1935, has developed into one of the finest bass fiddle players on the continent. Unfortunately, he insists upon playing with his fingers rather than using the bow. However, his aim is high, his ambition great. We are sure that he will meet with great success both in the field of music and of medicine.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '53-'56; College Orchestra '53-'56; Intramurals: Hockey '53-'56, Curling '53-'54.

ANDRE DUPUIS

Science

"Be wise with speed; a fool at forty is a fool indeed."

André, born August 3, 1933, came to the college in Freshman from Collège Notre-Dame. Despite the untold number of lectures he's heard or the countless Labs he has attended, he rightly considers it effort well spent, for the future of the Engineer looks sweet.

ACTIVITIES: UNTD '52-'53; Intramurals: Floorhockey '54-'55, Hockey '52-'56; Tennis '52-'56.

RONALD JOSEPH EMERY

Science

"Here rests his head upon the lap of earth,
A youth to fortune and to fame unknown."

Ron, born December 28, 1935, is an outsider, if you consider Hamilton, Ontario outside. He received his Senior Matriculation certificate from Cathedral High School, then proceeded to Loyola.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Hockey '53-'56.

JOSEPH FRANCIS FAHEY

Commerce

"The days that make us happy make us wise."

Joe, born January 27, 1935, is an honors student in both Economics and Accounting—an achievement in itself. Having acquired his High School leaving certificate from D'Arcy McGee, he came to Loyola, stayed awhile, then will move on to greater things.

ACTIVITIES: COTC '52-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Basketball '53-'56, Football '52-'55, Hockey '52-'56.

JOHN JOSEPH FOY

Commerce

"It matters not whether you have won or lost, but how you have played the game."

John, born in Montreal June 8, 1932, came to Loyola from St. Leo's Academy. His size belies the fact that he has shown great athletic ability throughout his college years.

ACTIVITIES: Varsity Hockey '52-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Basketball '53-'56, Football '52-'56, Referee '54-'56.

BARTOLO GAMUNDI

Commerce

"A little nonsense now and then, Is relished by the best of men."

Bartolo was born January 10, 1934 in La Vega, Dominican Republic. He came to Loyola in Freshman after having completed his early education at La Salle College in the Republic.

ACTIVITIES: Soccer '52-'55; Intramurals: Floorhockey '54-'55, Basketball '53-'56.

DOUGLAS GAYNOR

Commerce

"But screw your courage to the sticking-place, And we'll not fail."

Doug, born September 4, 1935, came to Loyola eight years ago having originally attended Lajoie Primary School. He is a quiet man ready to offer assistance to any worthwhile project.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '54-'56; Debating '53; Placement Bureau Rep. '53-'54; Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Curling '55-'56, Tennis '55-'56, Football '53-'55; Eight Year Man.

PAUL E. GOULET

Science

"Altiora ne te quaesieris"

Paul, born Christmas day 1933, is one of those striking individuals, who change from Arts to Science, rather than in the other direction. He completed Sophomore Arts at College Sacré-Coeur in Sudbury before coming to Loyola in the department of Engineering.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Hockey '52-'56.

JULIAN REGINALD GWYN

Arts

"The little that is done seems nothing when we look forward and see how much we have yet to do." — Goethe.

Julian came to Canada from Birmingham, England where he was born on March 30, 1937. During his eight years at Loyola, he has been active in many phases of College life and his good humour and quick wit have won for him the respect and friendship of all who have come to know him.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'54; Dramatics '54-'56; Vice President Arts Society '55-'56; Secretary Arts Society '54-'55; COTC '53-'56, President Mess Committee '55-'56; Contributor: News '54-'56, Review '55-'56, Amphora '54-'56, Veritas '53-'55; Intramurals: Hockey '53-'56, Football '52-'55, Basketball '53-'56, Floorhockey '53-'55; Eight Year Man.

WILLIAM JOHN HACKETT

Commerce

"Per ardua ad astra."

William, born August 4, 1935, is a man of whom Loyola should well be proud. Not only has he achieved very high academic standards, but also has served well with the RCAF both in Canada and Germany.

ACTIVITIES: URTP '52-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Football '53-'55, Curling '55-'56; Eight Year Man.

PETER L. HANLEY

Science

"One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning."

Peter, born December 3, 1931, has always been a very quiet man. For the last few years he has been carrying the rather inglorious standard of the undergraduate. Hence-forward things will move more quickly,

PETER RONALD HOLLAND

Arts

"While I breathe I hope."

Peter was born in Winnipeg on February 22, 1935. He is an Eight Year Man (at least) and could well be known as "Mr. Activity" around the college, having taken part in almost every phase of activity on the Campus, from the Sodality to the COTC.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'56, Instructor of Candidates '54-'55; LCAA: Pres. '55-'56, Vice-Pres. '54-'55, Councillor '52-'54; Dramatics '54-'55; Stage Crew '53-'56; COTC '52-'55; Varsity Football '53-'55, Captain '55-'56; Varsity Ski '52-'56, Manager '54-'55; Varsity Tennis '52-'54, Manager '54; Varsity Basketball '54-'55; Contributor: News '52-'55, Review '53-'55 Ass. Bus. Mgr. '54-'55; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Basketball '52-'54, Swimming '55-'56, Referee '52-'56, Curling '52-'56, Bowling '54-'55, Hockey '53-'56; Eight Year Man.

PETER HOWISON

Commerce

"In doing what we ought we deserve no praise, because it is our duty."

Peter was born in Montreal on January 25, 1933. He has for a good many years been plying his way up and down Sherbrooke Street, living the rather complacent life of the undergraduate. However, he now feels that at least he won't have to travel so far to work.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Floorhockey '54-'55, Football '54-'56, Hockey '54-'56; Eight Year Man.

ELPIDIO ROBERT IUTICONE

Arts Pre-Med

"There are occasions when it is undoubtedly better to incur loss than to make gain."

Robert was born on October 15, 1934. He is a wonderful combination of a great talker and amazing gesticulator. He possesses firstly a fine tenor voice, and secondly, an ability to cheer up anyone, even on the most disheartening day.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'56, Second Asst. '54-'55, Prefect '55-'56; Intramurals: Football '52-'53, Basketball '52-'53; Eight Year Man.

FRANK MICHAEL KAVCIC

Science

"We venture into the unknown, armed with what we have learned."

Born March 10, 1933, Frank has had his nose in some sort of a Chemistry laboratory almost since that initial day. He is unusually successful in being able to combine a ready smile with a serious outlook on the future.

ACTIVITIES: COTC '54-'56; Intramurals: Basketball '52-'55, Football '52-'55, Hockey '52-'56.

JACK KELLER

Commerce

"He that discloseth to a friend the secrets of his mind doth rid himself of happiness."

Jack was born on April 15, 1929 in Kernei, Yugoslavia. He lived in Germany during the war and was "educated" in the Gymnasia in Germany. He has been at Loyola since Freshman and has achieved high academic standards.

WILLIAM KEVIN KIELY

Science-Pre-Med

"Great men turn failures into stepping stones, for it is not failure but low aim that is the crime."

Kevin, born August 19, 1934, is another hard working student, who has devoted his college years almost exclusively to his pre-medical studies. He is a man who can discipline himself to the rigors of his exacting work and still keep his eyes open.

ACTIVITIES: Varsity Boxing '52-'53; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Basketball '52-'55, Football '52-'55, Hockey '52-'55; Eight Year Man.

JOHN MICHAEL KINSELLA

Commerce

"Ful wys is he that can himselven knowe." - Chaucer.

John, born July 16, 1937, is the youngest man graduating in the Commerce Faculty this year. Quiet and mature for his age, he is a man with many hidden talents, of which we have been getting but a mere inkling during the last four years.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '52-'53, Class Representative '54-'55.

ERIC KOST

Commerce

"More things are wrought by prayer ..."

Eric, born May 7, 1934, is another of those bright young lads from the Towne. Unusual though it may seem for a Commerce-type, Eric is genuinely interested in journalism (in a commercial sort of way.)

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '55-'56; Commerce Worksheet '53-'56, Man. Ed. '55; Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Swimming '53-'56, Football '53-'55, Tennis '53-'55, Hockey '54-'56; Eight Year Man.

JEAN LAFLEUR

Arte

"Ut volo"

Jean is the youngest man of the graduating class. He was born in Montreal on May 6, 1938. He came to Loyola from Brébeuf College in 1954 and has given an excellent account of himself since.

ACTIVITIES: Varsity Golf '55-'56; Intramurals: Football '54-'55, Hockey '55-'56.

FRANCIS PHILIP LALONDE

Science

"Labor omnia vicit"

Frank, who was born on July 9, 1933, is another of the many eight year men. He has always been very interested in things mechanical and scientific and so it is not surprising that in this field lies his future.

ACTIVITIES: URTP '52-'55; Bowling League '52-'56, President '53-'54; Jr. Varsity Hockey '53-'54; Intramurals: Hockey '52-'56, Football '52-'54, Floorhockey '52-'55; Eight Year Man.

GILLES LAMONTAGNE

Arts Pre-Med

"In vino veritas."

Gilles, who was born on October 29, 1934, is the only graduate who already has his degree. He received his diploma in the faculty of Arts at Brébeuf College in 1955. He is a special student at the college taking only pre-medical courses.

ACTIVITIES: COTC '52-'56.

JACQUES JOSEPH LEGER

Commerce

"He that nought n'assayeth nought n'acheveth." — Chaucer.

Jacques, born on the last day of the year in 1932, came to Loyola in his Sophomore year from De La Salle College in Toronto, his hometown. He has always had a great interest in things commercial, especially the Commerce Society.

ACTIVITIES: Commerce Society: Sec.-Treas. '54-'55, Pres. '55-'56; CSR: Treasurer '55-'56; Varsity Football: Manager '55-'56; Intramurals: Hockey '53-'54.

RAYMOND JOSEPH LOSITO

Science Pre-Med

"More things are wrought by prayer that this world dreams of."

Ray might be described as a fine product of this city's High School football and hockey leagues. This would be unfair, for he is a self-made man, a tireless worker, an enthusiast at all times. He will indeed be missed at the College.

ACTIVITIES: Sodality '53-'56; Varsity Football: '53-'55; Varsity Hockey '53-'56, Captain '55-'56; Review: Contributor '53-'54, '55-'56; Intramurals: Basketball '54-'56, Floorhockey '53-'55.

JOHN AIDAN MAHONEY

Science

"She's all my fancy painted her, she's lovely, she's divine."

Born August 31, 1935, John has always been an avid supporter of any important College project. Born here in the city, he did his early schooling at St. Antonin-by-the-sea. For the last eight years he has religiously followed the Jesuits' Progressive Education Program.

ACTIVITIES: Bowling League '52-'56, President '54-'55; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Basketball '53-'56, Football '52-'54, Hockey '52-'56; Eight Year Man.

ERNEST HERMAN MARTIJN

Commerce

"A quitter never wins, and a winner never quits."

Ernest was born on October 5, 1932 in Willemstad, Curacao. He attended St. Thomas College in Willemstad and has spent a good number of years at Loyola. He has during this time been a continual standout on the basketball floor.

ACTIVITIES: Varsity Basketball '52-'56; Intramurals: Curling '53-'54; Eight Year Man.

GEORGE MAYRAND

Arts

"Foris sed magis intus."

George is from the capital city, where he was born on July 3, 1936. He came to Loyola in his Junior year from College St. Alexandre. Exactly what the future holds in store for him is anyone's guess, including George's.,

ACTIVITIES: Loyola Choral Group '53-'54.

LAWRENCE BARRY MUTTY

Arts Pre-Med

"'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe:
All mimsy were the borogroves,
And the mome raths outgrabe." — Lewis Carroll

Larry was born on January 14, 1934—it took him several years to realise it. He came to Loyola in Freshman under the guise of one of those well-paid all-American imports from Boston. He now likes Pogo and Duplessis.

JOHN DONALD McCALLUM

Science

"Life is but a multitude of decisions."

Don, born May 3, 1934, is one of those men who usually finds himself elected to some sort of committee, board or executive. He may well develop, should he thus continue, into a "good-egg" or a good administrator.

ACTIVITIES: SSA: Treasurer '53-'54, Vice-President '55-'56; Class President '55-'56; URTP '52-'56; Bowling League '52-'56, Treasurer '55-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55, Football '52-'54; Eight Year Man.

JOHN THOMAS McCALLUM

Commerce

"Deep rivers move with silent majesty, Shallow brooks are noisy."

John, born February 18, 1936, will be sorely missed, when he graduates this year. This enterprising young man from the North Shore (Ste. Eustache) has always taken great interest and given his full support to College activities.

JOSEPH F. McGRADY

Science

"Finis coronet opus."

Joe is the Grandaddy of the graduating class, also the only war veteran, for he was born on March 30, 1921. He comes from Port Arthur, Ontario. He is always ready with a bit of advice and a word of encouragement.

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Floorhockey '53-'55.

TERENCE PATRICK O'CONNOR

Arts

"Then shall we a princely harvest reap; And live a life that's full and dream a dream that's true."

Terence, born on January 30, 1935, has shown himself to be both a skilled worker in matters scholastic and a keen sportsman on the playing field. He is one of those fortunate creatures possessing a sharp wit, which, every so often, reveals itself in some clever piece of writing.

MICHAEL JAMES O'DRISCOLL

Commerce

"The college graduate is presented with a sheepskin to cover his intellectual nakedness."

Mike, born June 27, 1933 received his Junior Matriculation certificate from St. Michael's College School in Toronto, his hometown. He has, during the last four years, been elected to various executives and has shown himself to be a good administrator.

ACTIVITIES: Boarders' Flat: Sec. '53-'54, Vice-Pres. '54-'55, Pres. '55-'56; Stage Crew '55-'56; Loyola Choral Group '53-'54; Commerce Rep. '54-'55; Varsity Hockey Manager '54-'56; Varsity Football Manager '55-'56.

JOHN OLIZAR

Science

"It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

John, born April 20, 1935 in Mexico City, first came to Loyola College in his Sophomore year, having completed his High School at Instituto Patria in the capital city. In whatever branch of Science he finally makes his career, we offer him our best wishes.

ACTIVITIES: Loyola Choral Group '53-'55.

EDMUND THADDEUS PEARSON

Science

"I must have liberty withall, as large a charter as the wind, to blow on whom I please."

Ted, born August 10, 1935 in Tientsin, North China, first came to Canada seven years ago. However, he did not acquire his pipe untill he joined Her Majesty's Canadian Navy as a young, salty Freshman.

ACTIVITIES: UNTD '52-'56; News: Contributor '55-'56.

MATTEO SILVIO PERROTTA

Science

"Time is invaluable; let us not waste any."

Silvio, born January 10, 1935 somewhere in Italy (for the censor's benefit), has been plying his trade in various forms (Engineering in this case) for the last eight years at Loyola.

ACTIVITIES: College Orchestra: '53-'56; Eight Year Man.

BERNARD POIRIER

Commerce

"The more we study, the more we realize our ignorance."

Bernard, born on March 15, 1935, originally acquired his education at l'Ecole Superieure Le Plateau. He is fluent both in French and English—it should prove to be a great asset in the business world of Duplessis Land (French for Toyland).

ACTIVITIES: Intramurals: Hockey '52-'56.

ROGER H. POITRAS

Science

"Any man can do the things he wishes, so long as he has the faith, power and willingness."

Roger, born on July 20, 1933, has had one hand or both in sporting activities, whether as a competitor or as an organizer, ever since he first came to Loyola many years ago.

ROBERT RAYMOND JOSEPH SAUVE

Science

"The best way to show that a stick is crooked is not to argue about it or spend your time denouncing it; but to lay a straight stick alongside of it." — D. L. Moody.

Bob, born March 7, 1934, has spent a third of his years here at Loyola. He is an avowed science-type. He has shown himself not only as a good student but as a fine administrator.

ACTIVITIES: Class President '53-'54; SSA Secretary '54-'55, President '55-'56; CSR Secretary '55-'56; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Basketball '52-'56, Swimming '52-'53, Football '52-'55; Eight Year Man.

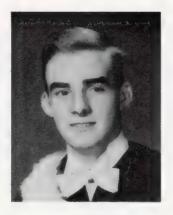

RONALD EDWIN SLEEMAN

Commerce

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

Ronald was born in Guelph Ontario on October 25, 1932. He is a very quiet but highly conscientious man, who, with an average amount of good fortune, should travel a long way toward his goal in life.

DAVID PEMBERTON-SMITH

Science

"Life is what you make it— Use but don't abuse."

David, who was born on February 3, 1936, came to Loyola six years ago from St. Leo's Academy. There have been few men who have attended the College, who can play a finer eighteen holes than does Dave. For the past three years he has been the top golfer at Loyola.

ACTIVITIES: Varsity Golf Team '52-'55 (captain '53-'55); Intramurals: Basketball '52-'56, Football '52-'55, Hockey '53-'56.

DANIEL JOSEPH SULLIVAN

Arts

"Learning is an ornament in prosperity; a refuge in adversity; a provision in old age."

Dan, from the cradle, (approximately May 12, 1935) has had his eye on a Law career. He is a man who is eager for work and who always strives for perfection. He is one who will undoubtedly lead a full life.

Arts

"We are influenced more by what a man is than by the truths that he proclaims."

David was born in Montreal on April 7, 1935. He is a man who will never shirk a worthwhile argument, though he will never start one or carry the issue so far as to embitter his opponents. He is a "man with a point" which invariably is well sharpened.

DONALD WHEELER

Science

"All things are possible to him that believeth."

Don, born August 20, 1934, is a solid man both in stature and character. He is a "cool customer" to work with, and above all a perfectionist. His greatest asset appears now to be his ability to place the correct amount of emphasis on the right thing at the right time.

ACTIVITIES: Class President '54-'55; Intramurals: Floorhockey '52-'55, Football '52-'54, Hockey '52-'54; Eight Year Man.

MAURICE J. R. WHITE

Arts

"L'Intelligence sans la volonté est inutile. La volonté sans l'intelligence est dangereuse."

Maurice was the elder statesman in Senior Arts. He was born in Montreal on July 15, 1931. An army man of four years' standing, he received his commission with the 6th Duke of Connaught Royal Canadian Hussars.

ACTIVITIES: COTC '51-'53.

The Council of Student Representatives is the officially recognized student government on the Loyola Campus. In form, it is made up of the duly elected Presidents of all official campus societies, and the President of each class. The Council itself is presided over by a four member executive consisting of the President of the student body elected by them, the Vice-President and Secretary, elected by the Council, and the Treasurer, who is also President of the Commerce Society.

President KENNETH F. CASSIDY

> Secretary ROBERT SAUVE

The purpose of the Council is mainly one of liaison between the students and the College Administration. In addition, the Council co-ordinates the work of all campus societies without, however, interfering in the internal operations of those organizations.

Chartered some twelve years ago by Very Reverend Edward M. Brown, S.J., then Rector, the Council has grown both in size and responsibility. Indeed, there is much to be desired in the perfection of the C.S.R. as a student government, but steps were made this year in that direction with the formation of committees to review the matters of the budget and the constitution. Further, some advance was made in the matter of Council disciplinary authority when the C.S.R. censured five students for unmannerly conduct and barred them from holding public office on the campus for a period of one year. In addition to its extensive liaison work with the Administration, the Council was successful in having a complete renovation of the locker room completed.

New lockers, which had been a project for many years, were obtained and all the others repaired. The Council sponsored the Freshman and Sophomore dances as well as the Freshman Week activities and 1956 also saw the acceptance of the Loyola Marianopolis Bowling League and the Loyola Glee Club into the ranks of the Council members.

Space does not permit a fuller account of the activities of the Council, but it is felt that the year was a successful one. We leave the College confident that the competent hands in which the Council now rests, will guide it on to ever greater and even more

LOYOLA NEWS

Thomas De Quincey once made a very interesting distinction. He divided all literature into literature of knowledge, whose function it is to teach, and literature of power, whose function it is to move, to stimulate the emotions. In a sense, the Loyola News, or any other newspaper for that matter, fulfills this dual function. The standard news article should be an objective, concise, and accurate representation of fact. In the editorial columns, and in various other columns, on the other hand, a subjective element appears prevalent throughout. It is opinion, whether of one or of a group of men. The primary function of these columns is to move, to provoke thought, to stimulate controversy, if the subject lends itself to this. In a college, where news is often the exception, one would expect to find an abundance of columns designed to provoke thought on the part of the readers, and to make them aware of existing situations. We think that the News has accomplished this.

Any newspaper, and even a college newspaper like the Loyola News, is a power of no mean proportion. The Loyola News speaks to 2100 readers, to 2100 minds. This is a power; and the use of this power is entrusted to a handful of students. This is a responsibility. However a dilemma arises. The News is read by Loyola students, but it is also read by 1100 non-students, many of whom rely upon the News for their only contact with the college. How does one stimulate the students, to action if necessary, and yet temper the minds of those whose only contact with the issue at stake comes to them from the Loyola News. We have at least

The Loyola News is finally ready to go to press. Editors PETERS BEEMANS and JOHN LITTLE (seated) are putting a few finishing touches to the plans while Managing Editor TONY PATTERSON and ROSS LABRIE proudly look on. observed the dilemma, and as editors of the News, have acted under its shadow. We hope that our efforts have been successful.

John Little led the News staff as Editor-in-Chief through the period from September till January. A. J. Patterson battled his way through both terms with the News, in the rather precarious position of Managing Editor. Ross Labrie graduated from the lowly News Editor slot to that of Editorin-Chief in January, and was ably assisted by Peter Beemans, News Editor; Donald Weeren, Feature Editor; and Philip Lanthier, piloting the Sports section. Philip Killeen and Tony Parr were the businessmen on the News, and Tom Lane very capably headed the Circulation Department. Dick Tobin, Kev Larkin . . . the names are endless. If the Loyola News in the scholastic year 1955-56 achieved any measure of success, it is due entirely to the co-operation that existed between the faculty, editors, and students of the college, and to the encouragement and advice of Rev. G. Mac-Guigan, S.J., Moderator.

AMPHORA

MICHAEL HAWKINS, one of the typists whose long hours at the typewriter made the publication of the Amphora possible.

A favourite pastime at Loyola used to be one called "guess when the Amphora will appear." In recent years, however, the game has lost much of its old appeal, and a new one is rapidly taking its place. It is called, "guess why the Amphora won't appear."

No doubt one could eliminate most of this guess-work by asking one of the editors. But they have become a rather sullen group of late. Some of them are growing beards, most of them smoke pipes, and all of them can be seen to mutter under their breaths as they drift down the corridors.

Their drifting always leads them to the same place too: a mysterious room behind the bookstore, where they congregate at all hours of the day and night. At first, it was rather difficult to imagine just what dark secret this room held, but eventually word leaked out that it actually contained one Genuine Top Secret Coxhead Vari-Typer.

By now the editors have gotten someone to do the typing, while they, complete with pipes and beards, continue their secretive comings and goings at the room behind the bookstore.

And somehow the Amphora came out anyway.

ERIC JENSEN, Editor.

REVIEW

If the Review has come out earlier than ever before, it is due mainly to the excellent co-operation received from all the students.

Louis Zardo has been a fine managing editor. His years of hard work on Loyola Reviews have merited him the Editorship of the Review for the following year. Julian Gwyn, our Graduates' editor has competently handled his rather delicate tasks. Kevin Donovan and Paul Sauvé have managed the Sports Department with brisk efficiency. Ray Losito and Don Hushion have very faithfully given pictorial coverage to most college activities.

We have had three business managers this year: Philip Killeen held the job until February, when he unfortunately became ill. Then his assistants, Ron Christie and John Little, took over as cobusiness managers. They carried on the job of soliciting ads with great energy and with a great deal of success.

Last but not least, the Editors of the Loyola College Review wish to express their heartfelt thanks to Rev. G. MacGuigan, S.J., Moderator, for his encouragement and invaluable assistance.

ARTS SOCIETY

The Arts Society executive is discussing plans for the Arts Social, to be held in May. From left to right, KEVIN DONOVAN, Treasurer; PAUL SAUVE, Secretary; JOHN LITTLE, President; and JULIAN GWYN, Vice-President.

The Arts Social, a fitting climax to a scholastic year, in the opinion of those who attended, was the closing function sponsored by the Arts Society this year. The dance, which was held on the last day of the examination schedule at the Cercle Universitaire, had grown in popularity and magnitude over the previous and inaugural event.

During the month of November, the Student Directory, an annual project of the Arts Society, was put on sale throughout the College. The Editors, Kevin Donovan, Paul Sauvé, Julian Gwyn, and John Little, respectively Treasurer, Secretary, Vice-President, and President of the Arts Society, strove to sell the Directory to at least three quarters of the Student Body, and this objective was reached with room to spare.

After the conclusion of the mid-year examinations, plans were drawn up to start an intramural debating league primarily for Artsmen, although students from other faculties were welcomed to participate. Moreover, the "Veritas" was put out under the editorship of Ted Keyserlingk, of Sophomore Arts.

COMMERCE SOCIETY

For its fifth year of active existence, the Commerce Society had Jacques Léger as President, Kevin McAllindon as Vice-president, and Gordon McCarthy as Secretary-treasurer. Class representatives were: Senior, P. Howison, P. Bégin; Junior, W. Lalonde, R. Lalande; Sophomore, A. Villemaire, K. Crawford; Freshman, M. Sheehan, E. Vitienes. The Society's most industrious member is Professor Lawrence Bessner, B. Comm., C.A., moderator.

Tours were arranged to major industrial sites in Montreal by Ben Roberge and Stewart Sutcliffe. Mr. Desmond Smith, C.A., was guest speaker at the annual Commerce Banquet. Mr. Smith's humorous presentation made his informative talk quite enjoyable.

"Blood" was the cry heard on the morning of February 8, when the fourth annual blood drive took place under the leadership of John McCallum, of Senior. 141 students and faculty members answered the call.

The Society's official organ, the "Worksheet", was edited by Louis Lapierre with Eric Kost as Associate Editor. Louis' sharp wit and satire gave new life to the paper.

Loyola's newest Society has ended a fine year, and looks forward to greater ones ahead.

What makes the Flat a home, though, is not simply that it's a place to live but rather that everyone feels that he's a part of a family, a rather ungainly, widely diversified, sometimes obstreperous family, but well washed. The Head of the family is Rev. T. M. Moylan, S.J. who is chronically affable, but exerts a levelling influence on the Sixty-odd who have a strong penchant for excesses in the line of rest and relaxation. Fr. Moylan is affectionately known as "Pop."

The Big Brother is the Flat Pres., who represents the family on the C.S.R., delivers mail, organizes dances and sports, changes diapers, and mollifies Fr. Moylan when the Sixty-odd have been acting up. This year's Big Brother was that hearty son of Erin, Mike O'Driscoll, and a better president we have never had.

For that sturdy little band of malefactors who have burned out their last light bulb at Loyola, the Flat has been a great place, and in the cold mornings of the years

It may be said that this year the executive of the S.S.A. has followed in the footsteps of its predecessors. The interests of the Science Faculty have been furthered. The S.S.A. has endeavoured to provide facilities for members to make use of their talents.

High on the list was the third annual Boilermakers' Ball. Don McCallum shouldered most of the work for the chief social undertaking of the S.S.A. He was ably assisted by Walter Trumpa, whose signs once again publicized this dance.

Roger Poitras, assisted by Ted Pearson and Bill Dubé, presented movies every Tuesday. The proceeds from these movies were turned over to the Sodality poor drive. Ted also doubled as News reporter for the S.S.A.

This year the S.S.A. departed from its policy of scheduling industrial tours in and around Montreal. One tour was made on March 19 to the Canadian International Paper Co. plant at Three Rivers. It was well attended and proved beneficial to all.

Under the direction of its president, Robert Sauvé, the S.S.A. has made 1955-56 a successful year. Let us hope that 1956-57 be even more successful.

The work of the Loyola College Sodality may be best described in three fields of activity—the ascetical, the apostolic, and the apologetic. These three fields of action are designated in the first rule of the Sodality Common Rules which enjoins on its members the pursuit of the threefold goal of "sanctifying themselves, each in his state of life, and being zealous, as far as their condition in life permits, to save and sanctify their neighbour and to defend the Church of Jesus Christ against the attacks of the wicked,"—all this under the patronage of and through an ardent devotion to the Blessed Mother of God.

The ascetical end of the Sodality, then, is to deepen the spiritual life of each individual sodalist. Daily practise of mental prayer, attendance at least one week day Mass, the daily recitation of the Rosary—in short the exercise of Rule 34 aimed at the realization of a vigorous interior life. A further aid to this end was the annual closed retreat held at Manresa Retreat House exclusively for Sodalists and again this year under the direction of Rev. D. E. Daly, S.J., National Director of the Sodality in English-speaking Canada.

The apostolic end of the Sodality was realized in an active program of work aimed to benefit others. The traditional works of mercy, such as teaching catechism to the blind at Montreal Institute of the Blind, entertaining invalid children at the Children's Memorial Hospital was augmented this year by another project which was the catechizing of Catholic children in non-Catholic schools. Other charitable and apostolic projects included the organization of games for underprivileged children and a particularly successful drive for funds to aid the poor of Montreal at Christmas time.

Since the defence of the Church is the third aim of the Sodality, discussion periods were held regularly each term, the purpose of which was to clarify Catholic principles and their application to concrete cases. A recommended list of good reading and entertainment was posted monthly and Catholic Press month was given special observance and attention.

Under Rev. R. Devlin, S.J., who was the Director of the College Sodality again this year, the Executive comprised the following: E. R. Iuticone, Prefect; D. Sullivan, 1st Assistant; D. Weeren, 2nd Assistant; P. Noble, Secretary; A. Mizgala, Treasurer; J. Little, Master of Candidates.

Through an ever deepening devotion to Mary, Queen of the Sodality, loyalty to Sodality Rules, and an increased selectivity of members, does the Loyola College Sodality aim to reach yet higher goals in its ascetical, apostolic, and apologetic pursuits.

BOARDERS' FLAT

A boarder was once heard remarking to a friend on entering the vestibule of the Administration Building, "Well, it's not much—but it's home." For sixty-odd guys this is the true characterization of Loyola—"it's not much," or rather, "it's home." This must seem like a piece of maudlin sentimentality to the "Day Hops", for whom Loyola is just a place to spend the long hours between meals—when Kim Novak isn't in town. But there is a real bond of affection between the Boarders and the place where they drop their dirty socks—the Flat, that is.

The Flat, after all, is the place to which the Sixty-odd repair for rest and relaxation after a gruelling day of Intramural sports interspersed with periods of various forms of enlightenment. It is the place where they can scuff about in slippers or go barefoot, where they can take some refreshment at Moe Cramp's grog shop, or make tea with the hot water from the radiators, where they can curl up before the warm glow of the TV set or sit Cont. on Page 42

Back in the fall of 1945, a small group of students from Loyola and Marianopolis Colleges formed a bowling club and chose to call it "The Loyola Marianopolis Bowling League". For ten years the League operated independently and was not recognized as a campus activity. Despite this fact, it flourished and grew, and in October of this year, it applied for and was granted full membership in the Council of Student Representatives.

The difficulty in taking this step has always been the fact that about half of its members do not belong to Loyola. However, with the whole-hearted approval of the authorities, a precedent was set which, along with the appearance of Marianopolis students in Loyola Dramatics, is a big step in promoting closer relationships between the two colleges.

Thus began a new era for the bowlers.

The executive for the 1955-56 season consisted of President David Cottle, Vice-President Anne Hogan, and Treasurer Terry O'Connor. Twelve teams of six bowlers apiece fought for honours each Sunday evening over a twenty-two week schedule.

A popular innovation this year was the competition for Christmas turkeys. Seven twelve pound gobblers were offered as prizes, one for the high triple on each pair of alleys. Despite the fact that handicaps were given to the ladies, all seven were won by male bowlers.

The "Bowling Ball" took place on Hallowe'en night at Victoria Hall with two hundred and fifty people filling the Oak Room to capacity. Other highlights of the year included an evening of Christmas caroling followed by an open-house party at the Newman Club, a skating party at the college stadium, and the closing banquet at which prizes were given out for league play and officers were elected for the next year.

CANADIAN OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

Loyola College has always had a strong military tradition; and with the comparatively recent additions of a naval division and an air force squadron, it has assumed the appearance, the colour, and the dash of the tri-service. Since the last war, when training with the C.O.T.C. was compulsory and was taken far more seriously than it is in peace-time, the volume of enlistments has slackened, although the spirit and enthusiasm remain.

Today each officer cadet will spend two summers, each of four months' duration, in various camps situated throughout Canada. In his third year, the young officer has the opportunity of serving with the Canadian Brigade in Europe.

The quality of instruction has never diminished, for Dr. T. Greenwood, Dean of the English Department at the Université de Montréal, lectures in Military History and Geo-politics during the winter months.

Proper social conduct is a vital part of the development of the subaltern. Social evenings were held throughout the scholastic year at the Officers' Mess on the campus. A mess dinner, having, as guests of honour many former commanding officers, took place in April.

Thus with the combination of military training, cooperation from the individual himself, and intellectual refinement from the College, a well-rounded, dependable citizen, with a real appreciation both of the military way of life and of life as a civilian, will undoubtedly be the result.

The Loyola Debating Society is composed of the students of Junior and Senior years. The function of this society is three-fold: to train all members, and any others interested, in the art of debating and public speaking; to give Loyola students an opportunity to disperse their ideas among other college students; and to represent the College in any extramural debating exercises.

Loyola sent the President of the Debating Society to the I.U.D.L. conference held at Guelph. He accepted the presidency of the I.U.D.L. on behalf of the college for 1956-57.

In the I.U.D.L. competition however, Loyola did not fare as well as it had in other years. This was not due to any lack of debating ability, but rather because a legal topic gave McGill, which has a faculty of law, a tremendous advantage over Loyola Debaters. The resolution which was debated in this competition was that "Canada should have a separate codified Bill of Rights." The highlight of the debate at McGill was a well integrated rebuttal and argument delivered by Robert Cottle of Loyola's affirmative team. His argument revolved around the necessity to protect those moral inviolable powers called rights. On the negative team, and debating at Loyola, were Kevin Larkin and Paul Noble.

Loyola made a creditable showing at the McGill Winter Carnival Debating Tournament, held in February, and attended by Canadian and American Universities. Don Weeren and David McAsey won two out of their three debates.

Loyola's representative to the Montreal Debating League, Fred Wilson, did a splendid job of supervising Loyola's activities in this league. His efforts are in no small way responsible for the success which Loyola has had in this league.

ROMEO AND

When Coriolanus was borne off the stage last year and the final curtain fell, many people marvelled at the innovation achieved in the form of Marianopolis actresses. Who would have expected any further changes? Certainly there didn't seem to be any big drawbacks to the production of Coriolanus. There had been plenty of time for rehearsals. The acting had been well handled. By the final curtain, all were justifiably pleased.

There was nothing special in the selection of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet to grace the stage of Loyola for 1956. The surprise came when it was revealed that rehearsals would be for six weeks only. For from some three months to six weeks was a very extensive change. Actors would have to know their lines fairly well by the time rehearsals began. Any serious delays might mean postponing opening night—rather an impossibility once tickets are printed and sold. The challenge had been issued. The question was now, "Would they do it?"

The pressure was felt by all concerned. The devotion of the cast was nonetheless constant. The stage crew worked eagerly and quickly. Finally opening night arrived. Mr. Buell was slightly ill at ease. The light crew had yet half the play to run through in order to be certain about their cues. Mr. Buell finally sat in the back of the auditorium and wondered.

The curtain went up at 8.40, ten minutes late. At 11.15, opening night was a thing of the past. The lighting cues were well handled. Capulet was on hand to seal the bond of friendship with the Montague household. Mr. Buell smiled and was satisfied.

The performances were not the best ever presented on Loyola's stage. Yet they certainly were not the worst. Here were young actors, many of them only teen-agers, handling a play which many a competent thespian has bungled. It was then to be expected that perhaps things would be somewhat uneven. Although this was true the first few scenes of opening night, a spark of unity soon ran through the actors that led Walter O'Hearn of the Montreal Star to comment that "the production is finely conceived and moves with a nice flow against a handsome background." The greatest fault lay perhaps in the rendering of Shakespeare's lines, a difficult task. Yet the glory lay in what had been achieved in six weeks.

JULIET

Many of the personages concerned with the play were familiar, others were newcomers. Yet one could not help but miss the presence of Rev. F. Devine, S.J. His many years of service to the Dramatic Society as moderator have been remembered by many. To replace Fr. Devine it was only natural that Rev. H. Wardell, S.J., be selected, for he has been the guide of the stage crew for many productions.

Hans Berends spared none of his ingenuity for the settings. They were luxurious to the limit, with black and gold colours being played upon by the lights to the best advantage. As last year the extended platform into the orchestra pit was used.

March 10 saw the closing performance for 1956 of the Loyola College Dramatic Society production of Romeo and Juliet. It had been a successful run, and everyone concerned was happy about the way things had gone. The reputation of actors and stage crew for hard work in the face of difficulties had been maintained, and even increased.

ACTIVITY LETTERS

By-Law No. 1 of the present C.S.R. constitution states: "The following item shall be proper to C.S.R. activity. a) Awarding of the All-Activity letter as the special award of the Council." To accomplish this all-important duty, an All-Activity Committee is set up each year.

Those who think they have a letter coming to them, fill out a form in which they give a list of all their activities, athletic and non-athletic. The members of the committee go through all these lists, no mean job this year since there are fourteen lettermen, check them, eliminate what they consider spurious, and total up what is left according to a predetermined point system, which makes the acquisition of an All-Activity letter very difficult. Those

LOYOLA COLLEGE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Loyola College Athletic Association sponsors and co-ordinates all athletic activity in the college. The main body of the organization, comprised of the executive and the representatives of each extra-mural sport, control the policy of the athletic activities of the college. A sub-organization, the Intramural Athletic Council, conducts an intramural program for all students.

During the past year, the L.C.A.A. entered teams in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference, competing in football, hockey, basketball, golf, and skiing. The Loyola teams participated against players from R.M.C., Carleton, Ottawa U., C.M.R., Sir George Williams, Bishop's, MacDonald College, and St. Patrick's. The Athletic Association also sponsored a Junior Varsity hockey team, which played exhibition games with St. Joseph's.

The members of the L.C.A.A. are the students of Loyola College. The L.C.A.A. executive consisted this year of President Peter Holland, Vice-President Joseph Poirier, Secretary Donald Sauvé, and Treasurer Lawrence Boyle. These students are guided in their positions by Mr. Edward Meagher, Director of Athletics, and Rev. Thomas M. Moylan, S.J., the Moderator of the Association. Heartfelt thanks are extended to Mr. Meagher and Fr. Moylan for their assistance, and to the student body for its co-operation.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Since Intramural Activities have become a regular part of the College program at Loyola, the interest shown by the students has been little short of tremendous. The object of Intramural sports is to give the student who does not play on the Varsity teams a chance to compete in various types of sports. Since over 70% of the student body did participate in some type of Intramural sport, whether it was on the tennis court, the football field, the hockey rink, the basketball court, the curling rink, the bowling alley or at the swim meet, Intramural sports from the view-point of student participation in 1955-56 could well be called a success.

The Intramural Athletic Council is responsible for the organization of this program: it decides on the sports to be played, arranges the schedules, and determines the rules governing the various sports. A point system is set up in order that one class may be chosen from among the others and called the "Class of the Year".

If the Intramural Athletic Council has succeeded in achieving its aims, it is due to the student body, to the various class managers, to the managers of the various sports, and to Mr. Edward Meagher, the Director of Athletics. David Belcourt, President, and Don Whelan, Vice-President, wish to thank all for their co-operation.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Once more the curtain falls on another year and another football season at Loyola. Unfortunately, this year's team was plagued with injuries which sapped valuable manpower from its ranks.

If the team had had its full complement, this year the won and lost record would have been much more impressive. As it was, the team won one in six, and two of the losses were so close that it was not until the final gun that our opponents were certain of victory. The single conquest was a hard fought battle against a heavy, tough, Ottawa U. squad. Under the capable signal-calling of Brian Gallery and his hard charging backs Ray Losito, Ed Foley, Ron Chisholm, and Jim Stanford, the Warriors won their fourth straight Memorial Bowl Game 12-6. Twice Loyola was defeated in a very close call by Carleton. We lost the opener to the Rovers 8-5, and the return tilt at Ottawa 3-1. In the other three games Loyola was soundly trounced twice by R.M.C. with scores of 22-5 and 39-17, and once by Ottawa U. 18-5.

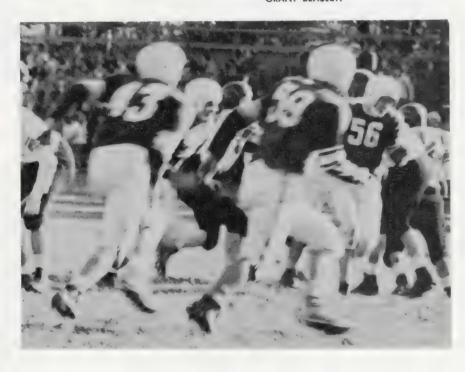

The ranks of the Warriors were depleted throughout the year little by little, until Loyola could only dress twenty-two men. John Lafave, Tom Lane, Mike Laplante, John St. Onge, Wally Lencz, Juan Zeberio, Grant Beasley were all forced to leave the ranks of the Warriors either permanently or indefinitely. There were some others too who were injured but not seriously enough to warrant missing a game. Such stalwarts as Joe Poirier, D'Arcy Coulson, Pete Holland, Paul Sauvé, Art Garinther, Terry Dingle, "Zeke" O'Connor, Micky Gallagher, Jim Noonan, George Bochenek, Willie Renaud, Mike Mc-Nally, Phil Killeen, and Kev Donovan held up Loyola's hard-charging, if somewhat weakened, line. Then there were Bob Rumfeldt, Don Whelan, and Lloyd Sullivan who helped to keep the backfield fast and hard driving.

Although hampered by injuries, still head coach Dave Peebles and line coach Bernie McCallum did an admirable job with what men they had. Credit is also due to Peter Holland, the captain, who, disabled by an injury that sidelined him for a number of games, nevertheless gave all he had in games and practises. Also we mustn't forget Art Garinther, this year's M.V.P., a standout all year. He made sure the opposing backfielders got to hate the sight of old No. 30. Truly Art was the most valuable player. The managers of the team, Larry Boyle, Mike O'Driscoll, Jacques Léger, Ron Christie, and Ron Lalande deserve mention in this article and the thanks of the team and of Loyola.

The hockey season of 1955-1956 will long be remembered in the annals of Loyola Athletics. It was the year that the Loyola Hockey Warriors won their sixth Ottawa St. Lawrence Intermediate hockey championship, with a 7-1 record in league play.

The team was led by Terry O'Connor, who won the M.V.P. award by leading his team in scoring, by Johnny Foy, the penalty killer, and by the stocky defenceman, captain Ray Losito. These three players played their last season for the Warriors, a season that they will remember for a long time. The team was also aided in scoring punch by Freshman Larry Langill and veterans Ed Foley and Mike Furlong. The vacancies left by Phil Killeen and Joe Schnurr were filled in with such players as Kev McConomy, Mike McNally, Bruce Parsons, and Don Preston. Other players that played well all through the season were Ted Hanley, Ron Chisholm, Joe Poirier, Terry Dingle, and Gordie McCarthy, all Juniors, and Paul McDonald, of Freshman Science.

Most of the credit should go to coach Bernie McCallum who kept the team together. With only three graduates to replace, Bernie should have a real power-house next year. Our team managers, Larry Boyle, Robert Coughlin, and John St. Onge, also deserve a good deal of credit in Loyola's successful year.

The Warriors won most of their exhibition games at the R.P.I. Hockey Tournament held in Troy, N.Y. They played against teams many of whose members were to make up much of this year's U.S. Olympic Hockey Team that beat Canada. The Warriors won all their league games except one which they lost to C.M.R. 6-3. However when C.M.R. faced Loyola again, it was a different story. Loyola, in a rough checking game witnessed by the largest crowd in Loyola history, rolled over C.M.R. 7-3 to cop the championship.

SKIING

1956 emerged as a question mark so far as the Ski Warriors were concerned. We had lost two of our most valuable men through graduation and very little seemed to be ready to fill these gaps. To add to the fairly dark picture, we were chosen to hold the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Meet and a good showing was a basic requirement. However as time passed the fire warmed.

We opened the season's activities by journeying to Ottawa University for their Carnival Invitation Meet on the week end of Feb. 10th. D'Arcy Coulson captained a team consisting of Dave Scott, Pete Holland, and Jim Stanford, the latter being the only newcomer to a Varsity Letter squad. The outcome of the meet was negligible. The only spoils brought back to the campus were in the form of experience, for we ended the meet disqualified as a team. We undoubtedly did benefit though, and thus we headed into our hosting job on the week-end of Feb. 24th and 25th.

Three teams accepted our invitation to St. Sauveur and thus R.M.C., C.M.R., Bishop's University, and ourselves prepared for the treacherous run on the Nordic Downhill on Friday morning. This event was won by J. P. Fortier of R.M.C., with Coulson 2nd, Scott 5th, Stanford 10th, and Holland not finishing due to an ankle injury.

The slalom course, a beautiful 70 gate affair, expertly set by Jack Bruce of Mont Tremblant, was won by our own D'Arcy Coulson on Friday afternoon. He skied the course in perfect form to beat his closest rival by a full second. Dave Scott placed 8th and Jim Stanford with a bad spill placed 15th. At the end of the Alpine day we claimed the individual winner D'Arcy Coulson and second place in the team standings behind R.M.C.

Saturday morning dawned wet and cold with freezing rain rendering the jump more than slightly uncomfortable. Our performance in this event was hardly outstanding. Our best man was Coulson again, who, failing to get any distance despite his fine form, placed 7th. Dave Scott, jumping for the first time, placed a promising 9th while Jim Stanford, also a green jumper, placed 12th.

In the cross country, we had our worst twist of bad luck. A miscalculation in waxing for a slightly difficult day forced us to accept 5th, Coulson, and 8th, Scott, as our two best times.

The meet ended with R.M.C. first, Warriors 2nd, Bishop's 3rd, and C.M.R. 4th. The whole affair was most capably run by our own Paul Levesque as "chef de la course", and its unquestionable success is due to Paul, D'Arcy Coulson, Jack Bruce, our Director of Athletics, Dave Scott, and a small group of generous students who sacrificed their time and money.

Thus ended a most interesting season which although slightly frustating at times, has not blinded us to the fact that next year looms large and bright with more useful ideas and more talent already being prepared for action.

Early in November, Coach Doug Potvin issued a call for prospective hoopsters who were to vote on whether or not they felt that Loyola, as a Basketball team, was ready to enter the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference. That was only the beginning—the result was a 6-6 record and a berth in the Championship Playoffs.

The first game was played on home grounds, and found C.M.R. bowing out 47-43. The next two games found Loyola on the short end. Sir George Williams caught them off guard 72-48, and in a closely disputed contest, found them edged out 66-62 by Macdonald.

After a three week rest, the cagers came back to scalp Bishop's 67-62, drop one to Ottawa U. edge out Carleton 60-59, and trounce St. Pat's of Ottawa 94-28.

Overconfident with their recent victories, the Warriors found themselves in a three game slump. R.M.C., showing good defensive strength, won a 56-44 tilt. Sir George Williams came from behind to hold an 8 point margin when the clock ran out. Bishop's, capitalizing on their home court, humbled the faltering Warriors 51-41.

The win-loss record now stood at 4-5 with two games left to play, one with league-leading Ottawa and the other with Macdonald. The cagers had already fallen to these quints before. With the odds heavily against them, the hoopsters came to life by levelling Macdonald 86-72, and showing great speed, power, and spirit, shocked Ottawa U. by edging them 71-70.

Loyola had made the playoffs. Next year's prospects look very good with eight returning lettermen including Kev Donovan, Bob Shea, Marty Boyle, and Peter Lee. The club will only suffer the loss of Jerry Dionne through graduation.

BOSTON GAGNON looking anxiously to see if the shot set up by him will be a good one, while team-mate ERNEST MARTIJN looks on in the background. Loyola lost this exhibition game played against Mont St. Louis.

GOLF

This year a determined Loyola golfing quartet comprising Dave Pemberton-Smith, Terry O'Connor, Ben Roberge, and Jean Lafleur was outdetermined by a formidable foursome representing Bishop's. An overconfident attitude because of their unexpected win last year, plus the fact that the squad was weakened by the loss of John Broderick and Ken McLeod accounted for their failure to bring home the championship for a second year in a row.

Pemberton-Smith was the pacesetter of the Loyola quartet with a 74. O'Connor followed with an 86 and Lafleur and Roberge were in the low nineties.

JOSEPH PELADEAU, Champion of the Intramural Tennis Tournament.

Amongst the falling leaves and the cool breezes of autumn, the annual Intramural Tennis Tournament was held. Entries were not as plentiful as in other years, but competition was keen.

In the semi-finals, Fred Enos faced Joe Peladeau, while Dick Tobin matched wits with Eric Kost. Peladeau and Tobin won out and crossed rackets in the final deciding match.

Joe Peladeau emerged as champion of the Intramural Tennis Tournament.

The Intramural football season came to a close this year on a frozen surface with Sabby Broccolini leading Senior Combines to a 12-0 verdict over Sophomore Science, finalists of the Junior Section. In the Senior semi-final series, Jerry Dionne and Dave Waters led the senior boys to a 12-6 victory over Junior Science. "Boston" Gagnon scored the lone Science T.D.

In the Junior Semi-Final, Ed Tracyzk, with two T.D.'s, led the Sophomore Science fellows to a 24-0 romp over Sophomore Arts. Mike Bellas and Norm Nagy closed out the scoring for the Sciencemen.

The leading scorers over the whole year were Gene Gagnon and Mike Bellas, with Gagnon finally edging out Bellas by one point 27-26.

BASKETBALL

JOHNNY FOY and DAVID BEASLEY are on the attack, with GORDON McCARTHY trying to cut in.

The Intra-mural Basketball league was again a great annual success. Like last year, the league was split up into a Junior section and a Senior section. Each class was represented by one team and this team was to oppose all the other teams in section.

In the Junior section Freshman Commerce was the league's best finishing with a 5 and 0 record. Sophomore Science was a close second with a 4 and 1 record. These two teams were the contestants in the semi-final round. With the use of a little strategy Sophomore Science finally dominated winning the 2-game total point series 49-44.

In the Senior section it was the Junior classes that dominated the league with the semi-final opponents being Junior Arts and Junior Science. The Sciencemen won the first game of a 2-game total point series 18-14, but went down in defeat under a powerfully pressing Junior Arts squad 43-35 on the whole.

Sophomore Science went against Junior Arts in the finals, in a best-two-out-three series. The first game was a real surprise because the Artsmen were highly favoured but only won the first tilt by 28-22. The second game ended in a draw 32-32 with the underdogs again showing great stamina against the Artsmen. Finally in the last game of the series Junior Arts came into their own by beating Sophomore Science by a score of 31-23 and thereby winning the Intra-mural Basketball crown.

GORDON McCARTHY (No. 26) is trying to put the ball in the basket, while JOHNNY FOY, (No. 34) is trying just as hard to keep it out.

Two Junior Commercemen are overjoyed at the basket just gotten by their team: FRANK MOSCATO, jumping up, and ED FOLEY, at the extreme right.

The Intramural Hockey League had another very successful season this year, with the extensive schedule closing in early March with the final and semi-final playoffs. The activities of the Senior division ended with a three way tie for first place. In the sudden death playoff, Junior Arts won against Senior Arts by default, after Senior Arts had defeated Junior Science 4-2. In the Junior division, a two game total point series took place between Sophomore Commerce and Freshman Science, and was won by Freshman Science 6-0, 5-2. Junior Arts beat Freshman Science in a two game total point series for the championship, 2-2, and 4-2.

KEVIN DONOVAN, of Junior Arts, applies a bruising bodycheck to CHUCK MIZGALA, of Junior Science, while BRIAN SHERIDAN (no. 8) surveys the scene.

CURLING

Loyola College held its annual Intramural Curling Bonspiel on March 19, at the Montreal Thistle Club. Senior Arts, Freshman Science, and two entries from Junior Arts made the semi-finals, and Freshman Science bowed out to Senior Arts, and Junior Arts 1 edged Junior Arts 2. In the final round, Junior Arts crushed Senior Arts by a score of 14-1. The members of the winning quartet were Larry Boyle, Joe Poirier, Brian Gallery, and Skipper John St. Onge.

SWIMMING

Loyola again held an Intramural Swimming Meet which ended in a tie for first place between Freshman Science and Junior Arts. Three persons tied for individual honours—Jim Noonan of Freshman Science, Joe Poirier and D'Arcy Coulson of Junior Arts.

CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP

This year, first place in class standings for Intramural Sports was won by Junior Arts, who outdistanced all her competitors by winning the Hockey, Swimming, Basketball, Curling, and Tennis championships.

The High School

Loyola High School Review

1956

MONTREAL, CANADA

VOL. 42

The Editor's Page

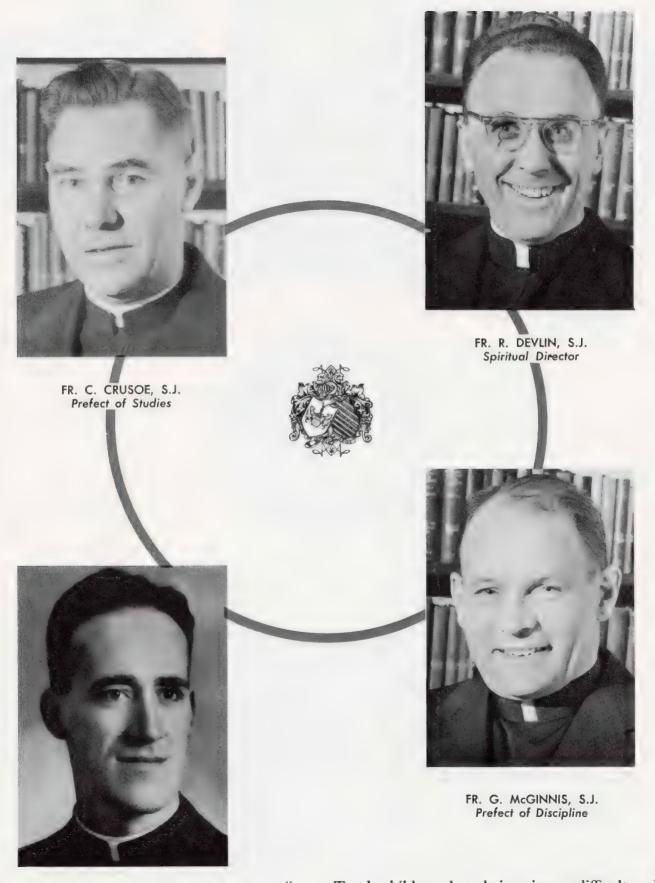

The editor is keenly conscious that the reader who will turn first to The High School Section will be, perhaps bitterly, disappointed.

In a glowing mood of vivid recollection, surrounded perhaps by his dearest friends who are similarly groping for these pages, prepared for a session of sweet boisterous thought in the "remembrance of things past," he will indeed "sigh the lack of many a thing (he) sought." "What!" he will cry "no ATHLETICS section! One single page for sports — grudgingly granted only because a City Championship was won. No intramural activities; no social activities; no pictures of big-wheel executives and class officers; no sodality coverage; not even a page for their precious Academic Leaders. Well!"

The necessity that the Editor pleads as excuse for having so sharply cut the number of pages, and so suddenly reverted to the single-book format is the no-longer-to-be-evaded financial one. He wishes another necessity were present which, no doubt about it, would have been able to face the financial one and find means to continue a separate Review worthy of our High School. But the almost complete apathy with which the '55 Review was received certainly seems to argue the absence of any sense of that necessity that is the mother of invention. The '55 book was the best High School Review produced yet — from any point of view: it was 84 pages; its pictures were better than good: some of them were knock-outs; it had reader appeal; and it was a smooth print-job.

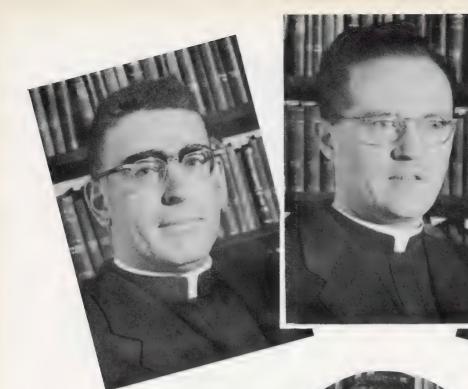

Perhaps the anguish that will almost certainly follow close upon the appearance of these inadequate pages will produce the effect that last year's excellence failed to produce.
